What is a Loan Shark?

‘Loan shark’ is a popular term for an illegal money lender - someone who lends money to people without being authorised to do so by the Financial Conduct Authority (FCA).

Why are Loan Sharks bad?

Loan Sharks target the most vulnerable people in society and cause them immense misery. They lend money to people who are in a crisis or who feel that they have nowhere to turn for financial support.

Why do people use Loan Sharks?

To people who are feeling desperate and who don’t know where else to turn for help, Loan Sharks can appear to be very friendly and accommodating to start off with. Many people who use Loan Sharks may have been refused loans or credit elsewhere and may be at a crisis point in their life due to financial difficulties.
When do the problems start?
Loan Sharks don’t provide paperwork. This means that it’s often difficult for people to keep track of how much they have borrowed and how much they still have to pay back. The repayments can seem neverending and many people end up paying back much more than they originally borrowed, without being sure of what they’ve already paid.

Can Loan Sharks be dangerous?
Many Loan Sharks use threatening behaviour to make sure that people repay the money they have borrowed. As they are usually based in the community, they know where people and their families live.

How can I spot a Loan Shark?
If you can answer yes to one or more of the following questions, it is possible that you are dealing with an illegal money lender:

- Did they offer you a cash loan?
- Did they not give you any paperwork?
- Have they added huge amounts of interest or APR to your loan?
- Did they change the terms of the loan without warning?
- Have they threatened you?
- Have they taken your bank/post office card, passport, watch or any other valuables?
